Florida's Oldest Building Material Association Celebrates It's 90th Birthday

MOUNT DORA, Fla., February 10, 2010 — This year marks the 90th birthday of the Florida Building Material Association (FBMA). A celebratory bash will be held September 23, 2010 during FBMA's annual convention and trade show. When discussing the event, FBMA's Chairman of the Board, Wade Jefferson, commented "We welcome and hope that current and past building material industry professionals will join us for this momentous occasion celebrating the association's longevity, relationships and success in Florida."

Individuals interested in co-hosting the event can participate with FBMA's $90-for-90 birthday wish program. By contributing one dollar for every year of FBMA's existence, a total of $90 will go towards birthday bash festivities. Co-hosts will be recognized on FBMA's convention and trade show website, electronic newsletter e-Blueprint and on a giant birthday card present at the event. Donations can be made online at www.fbmainevent.com or by contacting FBMA at (352) 383-0366.

FBMA's annual convention and trade show, the MAIN Event and Gulf Atlantic Building Products Expo, will be held September 22 – 24, 2010 at Walt Disney World's Dolphin Convention Center in Lake Buena Vista, Florida.

To obtain exhibit booth space or to secure a sponsorship, please contact Show Manager, Betty Askew, at (352) 383-0366 or e-mail betty@fbma.org. Convention and trade show registrations will begin in June 2010. For more information, visit www.fbmainevent.com.

Established in 1920, FBMA promotes the use of wood building and accessory products, develops programs to make businesses more efficient and effective, provides networking opportunities and lobbying efforts for its membership and the betterment of home building throughout the State of Florida.
